

Westside Mommy
November 2, 2015

02 Textiles that say ‘welcome’ in the home

NOV
2015 by SheSaid in Uncategorized

Leave a comment

Having sophisticated décor does not mean your furnishings should be untouchable. Make your home welcoming with these textiles that look fabulous and feel great.

Wrap yourself in luxury

the types of fiber, construction and feel are myriad when it comes to bath towels. MicroCotton bath towels feature a unique structure of the yarn giving towels a suede-like texture that becomes softer with washing. Made from 100% plush long-staple cotton, MicroCotton towels get their soft touch from a patented spinning process so the towels feel fluffy and extra-soft. Their porous texture also lends itself to absorbent and drying easily.

The lighter-weight of the textiles make large MicroCotton towels lighter than others their size, and the cotton weave is also durable and long-lasting and so that it holds colors and does not fade after multiple washings. MicroCotton towels are available from many retailers, such as Wamsutta Perfect Soft MicroCotton Bath Towels ($14.99 at Bed, Bath and Beyond), Noble Excellence MicroCotton Bath Towels ($34.00 at Dillard's) and Hotel Collection Bath Towels MicroCotton Collection ($31.00 at Macy's).

